

Implementation of this proposal would be wasteful in and of itself, only asserting even further and undue stress upon an already overburdened industry.